

SERVICE BRIEF

Vendor Management

Get better, faster support for your third-party hardware and software investments and one point of contact for all of your vendor relationships.

Stop Dealing with Third-Party Support

Manage your business relationships, not your hardware and software vendors.

Ever deal with a computer issue for days because you don't want to make the commitment to spend hours on the phone with the manufacturer's support? We understand completely. Third-party technical support can run you around in circles before getting anywhere when you really need things to be back up and running so your staff can operate normally.

One Support Number

Get support for all of your IT solutions and get technical issues resolved faster and more accurately

Press Start Ltd's engineers work with a huge range of hardware and software vendors every single day. A big part of our daily lives involve building relationships with vendors. We also know our clients' IT infrastructure and goals much better than any third-party vendor ever could. It's only natural for us to extend these services to our partners.

When Press Start Ltd manages your vendor relationships for you, that means you get a single point of contact for all of your troubleshooting and support needs. In many cases, our engineers could provide the solution faster and more cost effectively than working with support and when we do need to reach out to the vendor, we're able to articulate the issues faster.
